

WDFW Burrowing Animal Guidance - August 2017

If animal burrows are encountered during dam inspections, the procedure for managing the burrows will depend on the type of animal involved. Species Fact Sheets may be found on the Washington State Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) website at <http://wdfw.wa.gov/living/species/>. These information sheets contain information about identifying animals and how to address conflicts. For further information about animal control options or assistance with identification you can contact the WDFW Wildlife Program at (360) 902-2515 or email at wildthing@dfw.wa.gov.

WDFW regional staff may also be able to assist with identification and managing wildlife conflicts. You can reach your local WDFW Region at the following:
